

Apollo Level
Scavenger Hunt
(Grades 4-9)

Navigate the Modern Space Gallery to find the answers to the clues.

- 1) Just to see if you were paying attention: the last name of the first person to walk on the Moon:
- 2) "Ring Around the Rosie" might be a good song for this planet if you changed "Rosie" to "Giant Ball of Gas:"
- 3) This protects the shuttle from the heat of re-entry on its way back to Earth, but you can find smaller ones in your kitchen or bathroom:
- 4) Judith : female astronaut killed on board the Space Shuttle Challenger in 1986.
- 5) "Home Sweet Home" is what many astronauts, including Neil Armstrong and Tom Henricks, have called this state:
- 6) Some might say I'm blue because I'm last, but I think it's because of methane gas. Which planet am I?
- 7) What I come from may keep the doctor away if you eat one a day, but in my saucy state I can be used as food for astronauts
- 8) Second to last, I am a bit of an "oddball" because I rotate sideways unlike my fellow planets:
- 9) Without this, a shuttle landing would have been very rough and dangerous. You can find smaller versions on other modes of transportation :

MYSTERY CLUE: It's all a matter of how you look at it. If you were Russian, you'd be a cosmonaut, but if you're an American, you would be called this name which means "star sailor."

To find out what I am, take the first letter of each answer and fill it in below.
